

Welcome to Church

Do you remember the phrase “sticks and stones may break my bones but words will never hurt me”? This childhood saying suggests that negative words people say against us have no impact. They do. The truth is that words can destroy us. They can assault us emotionally and in ways that hurt us deeper than any physical weapon. In this way the pen is truly mightier than the sword.

How do you use your words? Do your words help or hurt others? If someone recorded all your words spoken in a day what would be the message? In today's sermon we will see how the 9th commandment “do not bear false witness against your neighbor” warns us to watch what we say about people. The 9th commandment is proof that God cares what we say about others. And that it is a sin against God to speak hurtful words about others, especially when those words are not true. The ultimate goal is for us to be like Jesus, and to speak in the way he spoke... with grace and truth.
